6 Look at the table.

Simple Past Tense vs. Past Perfect Simple Tense
We use the past perfect simple tense to emphasize that one event happened before another event in the past. Simple past tense is often used to show two events happened at or around the same time.
simple past + simple past	The event ended when she arrived.	The event ended at the same time she arrived.
past perfect simple + simple past	The event had ended when she arrived.	The event ended before she arrived.

7 Fill in the blanks with the present perfect simple, past perfect simple, or simple past forms of the given verbs.

1. She was in an interview. She felt nervous.
   She had felt (feel) nervous when she spoke to the interviewer.
2. He studies German. He started three years ago.
   He has studied (study) German for three years.
3. He forgot to lock the door when he left home. He felt anxious.
   He felt anxious all day because he had forgotten (forget) to lock his front door.
4. She didn't study for the test. She had difficulty with the questions.
   She had difficulty with the test questions because she hadn't studied (not study).
5. He arrived at the office. He looked at his schedule.
   When he arrived at the office, he had looked (look) at his schedule.

Expressions Phrasal verbs with turn

8 Listen and repeat. Track 4-09

Phrase	Definition	Example Sentence
turn up	to show up at a place	They turned up at 9:00 p.m.
turn down	to decline or say no to something	He turned down the invitation to the party.
turn it around	to change the outcome of something for the better	He has a bad grade in math, but if he studies harder, he can turn it around.
turn out	to be the case	It turned out we hadn't done the laundry.

9 Fill in the blanks with the correct phrasal verbs.

1. Our business didn't do well, but if we make a better plan, I think we can turn it around next year.
2. We went to the park on Saturday, but no one was there. It turned out that my schedule was wrong; the event was last weekend.
3. I have to turn down your delicious cake because I have gained too much weight this year!
4. Jenny didn't turn up for the meeting today because she had some difficulty with her car.

Speak Up

10 Listen and look at the pictures. What problems are they having? What solutions can you think of? Talk with a partner. Track 4-10

Problem

